Applicant is advised to provide appropriate drawings that would permit examination. The currently filed drawings, which include a poor photocopy with illegible markings and multiple engineering specifications with barely legible and illegible illustrations, reference characters and other markings, have made the drawings too difficult to use and too much of an eye strain to facilitate in the examination of this application. Note, there is a shortened statutory period with which to reply. Applicant is also advised that even if these drawings could be used to make an examination, they are too informal and incorporate too many problems to be acceptable in the event of allowance of the application.
